

I cannot heal you,
I cannot save you,
I cannot fulfill the prophecy,
But I'll trust Him who gave you to me.

One/He will come and crush the serpent's head,
One/He will come and raise us from the dead.

Man and wife held high hopes for this son,
Day and night they prayed he'd be the one,
To end the curse their folly had begun,
But Eve fell ill and wouldn't rise.
Adam cried out:

Son, can't you heal her?
Son, can't you save her?
Can you not fulfill the prophecy?
Still I'll trust Him who gave you to me.

Son and father buried Eve at dawn,
Adam knew soon he too would be gone.
Seth consoled his father with the song,
The promise God had given them
Was not broken.

NO WAY OUT

Dear God Above,
How I love You so,
And how grieved I am
That I don't love You enough.

You're my highest joy,
My inheritance,
The treasure I seek,
All else I'll count as loss,

For now I see there's
No way out except through you,
No more games,
Only you can see me through,
My peace, my strength, my joy all found in you.

Dear God Above,
The day is Yours,
And every breath I take
Is a gift of grace.

May my life today,
Be to your praise,
And if I fall,
May I fall on you.

I am safe,
I am known,
I am loved,
And affectionately I remain Yours.

CREDITS

All music, lyrics, and compositions by Robert Brown
Except for "Glorious Savior," composed with Anthony Chu
Anthony Chu played guitar on "Glorious Savior"
Mikhal Bester sang on "Waiting in the Wings"
Everlyn Rhee sang on "Time Is Against Us"
All recordings made at "The Parsonage" in California
Except for "Not That Strong (Moving On)," recorded on I-35 in Texas
Album artwork by David Rhee